

A guide to the city's best Chinese Cuisine

In our search for the authentic, for the flavoursome and the family run, we've compiled a list of our favourite cheap eats and date-worthy Chinese restaurants Leeds has to offer.

Why? In a city overrun with vague menus filled with sweet-potato fries and smashed avo on anything, we thought we'd point you in direction of the independent eateries that serve fresh and authentic plates and bowls, that deserve the attention of your taste buds.

Always try something new. We recommend asking your waiter what they would order if they weren't working or perhaps choose a dish you've never heard of before.

For us, nothing is more exciting than an unexpected culinary surprise. Take a loved one, tell a friend, share a picture, write a review – support local businesses.

We recommend calling ahead before you visit any restaurant on the list. You should also check if they are cash only before you arrive.

Did we miss someone from the list?

C - Maxi's Rotisserie

Leeds Kirkgate Market
LS2 7HY

Ignore those unhealthy supermarket meal deals, give your lunch money to Maxi. Choose between four roast meats with rice and cabbage, add a soy sauce egg on the side, then cover in chilli oil and spring onion oil. Easy.

Call Ahead : 0113 244 3094

D - Noodlesta

28 Blenheim Terrace,
LS2 9HD

Don't be put off by their small menu; always quality over quantity. Hand-pulled noodles. Need we say anymore?

E - Noodle House

20 Merrion St,
LS1 6PQ

Three house noodles to choose from. Soup or fried noodles? Friendly noodle bar set up for a relaxed lunch or late night dining.

Call Ahead : 0113 243 3940

F - Oriental City

30-36 Cross Stamford St,
LS7 1BA

A large banquet hall hidden above a small wholesale supermarket. Huge homemade Dim Sum menu, Hong Kong style dishes, and if you like what you've had, pick up the ingredients on your way out.

Call Ahead : 0113 244 9797

G - Red Chilli

6 Great George St,
LS1 3DW

This team of highly trained chefs specialise in Beijing and Sichuan dishes. Like your plates wonderfully spicy? Make a bee-line for Red Chilli. The clue's in the name.

Call Ahead : 0113 242 9688

H - Wen's

72-74 North St,
LS2 7PN

New kids on the block and another reliably run family business. Wen's are known for their handmade, pan-fried dumplings and bustling evening service.
